2019 ANNUAL REPORT

Holland Symphony Orchestra

Johannes Müller Stosch
Music Director & Conductor

2019 - 2020 Season
A Note From the President & CEO

Holland Symphony Orchestra strives to not only meet but surpass our mission and commitment to the community. We will increase this commitment in the coming year as we celebrate the 30th Anniversary of Holland Symphony.

When an organization approaches a benchmark anniversary, there is a natural tendency to look back as well as forward. The current Holland Symphony was not the original Holland Symphony Orchestra in the community. Others before us had organized a Holland Symphony and then disbanded for one reason or another.

The Holland area has always been rich in the music area with home orchestras, church groups and civic groups of all sizes. Fueled by the love for music, an amazing composite of passion, talent, community spirit, dedication and perseverance has flowed from church basements, school practice rooms, performance halls, parks, Hope College and civic organizations.

The present Holland Symphony began as a chamber orchestra in 1989 having been loosely together for several years as an accompanying orchestra for the Holland Chorale Christmas concerts. That first concert was performed on February 11, 1990. The total income for the first year was $1,760 with expenses of $1,179. Gerrit VanRavenswaay was its first conductor.

Fast forward to 2019 as Holland Symphony celebrates its 30th Anniversary year. Highlights will include Rachel Barton Pine, violinist, who will be in Holland for four days performing Tchaikovsky’s Violin Concerto with the orchestra and leading an area wide youth workshop in collaboration with the Music Department at Hope College demonstrating “shredding” techniques with our string players. Andrew Le will return to Holland in October playing a favorite, Gershwin’s Rhapsody in Blue. Mario Diaz-Moresco, opera singer from New York City, comes in December for the Holiday concerts. Then the final concert of the season will be the capstone of our celebration with Beethoven’s Symphony No.9 with soloists, Holland Chorale and Hope College Choirs. It promises to be a blockbuster season...so celebrate with us! You, the community, are the reason we share this passion!

Kay Walvoord
As I thought through this past HSO year, I couldn't help but think about the many different ways in which we carry out our mission, and what a strong impact that makes on our community.

The orchestra is the heart of HSO, and all through this past year the audience could hear that heart beating very strongly. A book that I read recently has a character whose life revolves around creating music. One idea from that book is that music is a way of transporting emotion from one soul to another. Last April, at the very end of the Tchaikovsky symphony, there was a moment of pure breath-taking silence before the applause, and in that moment you could almost feel the emotion being transferred from Johannes and the orchestra to the audience. It was the culmination of a year of wonderful performances that made watching and hearing the symphony an extraordinary experience for all who attended. As Johannes Muller-Stösch completes his twelfth year with HSO, we are extremely grateful for the expertise and leadership he brings to HSO, and we applaud the musicians for their ever-increasing artistic excellence.

A year ago, when the HSO Board approved the new Link-Up program in cooperation with Carnegie Hall, we could not have hoped for a more successful first year. Great participation and preparation of their fourth-grade students by the area school music teachers culminated in two fun filled, educational concerts that were met with great enthusiasm by the kids, teachers and orchestra members. Throughout the year, students in the three Holland Symphony Youth Orchestras, participants in the New Horizons string ensemble, and the preschoolers in Music and Me programs all experienced the joy of having music be a part of their lives.

As we begin our 30th anniversary season, we again look forward to carrying out our mission by providing a season of special performances and exciting, meaningful experiences. This would not be possible without our very dedicated staff, musicians and volunteers, or the strong support of our audience, donors, program advertisers, and grant makers. On behalf of our Board of Directors, I thank everyone who plays a part in enabling HSO to make such a significant impact on the cultural life of this community.

Johannes Müller Stosch Music Director

Praised as possessing “stylistic, charismatic, expressive and expert” leadership, German-born conductor Johannes Müller Stosch serves as Music Director and Conductor of Holland Symphony Orchestra. During his tenure, Holland Symphony has seen unprecedented growth in size and quality of performances, as well as record numbers of season subscriptions.

Johannes Müller Stosch is currently the Director of the Bob Cole Conservatory of Music at California State University in Long Beach. As Professor of Conducting, he oversees the Orchestral Activities. He has established his Conservatory Orchestra as one of the largest and finest in Southern California. The Conservatory Orchestra toured in Berlin, Leipzig and Wittenberg, Germany, and in Prague in the Czech Republic in 2017 and toured in South Korea in 2013. After a national search, in 2019 Johannes was also named Music Director and Conductor of the Orange County Youth Symphony celebrating their 50th anniversary as the oldest and one of most comprehensive Youth Orchestras in Southern California.

Johannes received his Doctorate of Musical Arts in Conducting from the Eastman School of Music on full scholarship. In 1997 after winning the coveted Strader Organ Competition in Cincinnati, Ohio, he received two Master of Music degrees in organ performance and orchestral conducting from the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music, also on full-tuition scholarship. He is married to pianist Clara Cheng Stosch, and they live in Long Beach with their Amazon parrot, Papageno.

Holland Symphony Educational Outreach

Holland Symphony provides programming to promote lifelong interest in music for all ages and backgrounds.

Holland Symphony Youth Orchestras

Holland Area Junior Strings is a beginning level, non-auditioned string group giving young musicians an opportunity to learn to play with an orchestra while learning the basics with other interested students from different schools.

Holland Area Concert Strings is an intermediate level, auditioned string orchestra offering a more advanced level for students who are ready for more of a challenge but are not quite ready for Youth Orchestra.

Holland Area Youth Orchestra is an auditioned full symphonic high school orchestra. Talented students from 20 different schools share the love of classical music all while motivating and encouraging each other through the joy of making music.

Chamber Music Opportunities

Chamber music groups are offered to the Youth Orchestra members and perform on youth orchestra concerts. This perk of participation in chamber music groups, at no additional cost, makes the youth orchestra stronger.

Chamber Music Seminar is a successful six-week session coached by professionals and includes both our youngest students and our most advanced students.

Lesson Scholarships

Scholarships for $200 are awarded to encourage private lessons for HSYO students. This scholarship fund is provided by donations and a student practice-a-thon.

New Horizons String Orchestra

This group for “rusty” musicians invites adults to get out their dusty instruments and have fun. Music stimulates the brain and brings people together socially to share the joy of community.

Pre-Concert Talks & Classical Chats

These educational talks happen before the Classics concerts: Thursdays prior to concerts at Freedom Village Retirement Center and immediately prior to concerts at the Jack H. Miller Center.
Youth Performance Interns
These student interns are auditioned members of the Youth Orchestra selected to perform with the Holland Symphony on classical concerts.

Norbert Mueller Concerto Competition
This annual competition is for area high school students. The first place winner performs with the HSO.

Music Room #106
HSO provides space for music teachers, lessons, and recitals for musicians associated with the symphony.

Music In Me
This is a music and movement class for our smallest musicians...ages 6 months to 5 years.

Link Up
This concert is presented annually in collaboration with Carnegie Hall and is a year long music education program for all 4th grade students in area public and private schools. Last year, over 1500 students participated in Link Up and attended a concert with the HSO in March at the Jack H. Miller Center for Musical Arts, where they sang and played the recorder with the orchestra.

Music...

It is patriotic and heroic, it is celebratory and occasional, it is religious and profane, it is dramatic and comic, it is loving and desperate, it is sensuous and idyllic, it is primitive and sophisticated, it is visceral and soulful.

In other words, what we play is the essence of what we are.
